

Brunswick

Proudly by your side

Brunswick supports LGBTQ+ people across Calderdale and Kirklees to feel healthier, safer, more connected and more confident.

Our work includes HIV prevention and support, LGBTQ+ youth work and a range of health and wellbeing projects.

We provide inclusive information, practical support and welcoming spaces where people can ask questions, build confidence, access services and feel part of their community.

Brunswick is ‘well proud’ to be here for you!

Well Proud is Brunswick's LGBTQ+ health and wellbeing programme, supporting people across Calderdale and Kirklees.

Through inclusive campaigns and community outreach, Well Proud helps people access the right support.

Working with a range of partners, we provide practical resources on sexual health, mental health, smoking, drugs, alcohol, chemsex and wider wellbeing for LGBTQ+ people.

WELL PROUD

Queer as Smoke raises awareness of smoking in LGBTQ+ communities and connects people with inclusive stop smoking support.

The campaign recognises that quitting can be difficult, especially when smoking is linked to stress, social situations or routine.

Through clear information, supportive conversations and links to local services, Queer as Smoke helps LGBTQ+ people who smoke take their next step towards better health.

QUEER as Smoke

DRAG supports LGBTQ+ people affected by drug use, alcohol use and chemsex, offering non-judgemental advice and support.

The programme offers inclusive information, harm reduction advice and support to help people feel safer, better informed and more in control.

It also connects people with further support when needed, in a way that feels accessible, non-judgemental and free from stigma.

DRAG

Take care of your Queer Bits. Cancer awareness starts with understanding your body and what to look out for.

Knowing your body and noticing changes early can make a real difference when it comes to cancer and your overall health.

Find out more about breast, chest, pec and cervical screening, testicular, prostate and anal cancer, and where to access support.

Queer Bits

LEVEL supports LGBTQ+ people to have healthier, safer and more equal relationships, offering inclusive advice and support.

The programme raises awareness of domestic abuse, power and control, and relationship pressures within LGBTQ+ communities.

Through clear information, inclusive resources and supportive conversations, LEVEL helps people recognise unhealthy patterns, understand their options, and access the right support.

LEVEL

yOUTh works across Calderdale and Kirklees, supporting LGBTQ+ young people and their parents and carers.

We help LGBTQ+ young people feel safe, confident and connected. The service offers inclusive spaces to meet others, access support and take part in activities that promote wellbeing and personal development.

It focuses on building confidence, reducing isolation and helping young people access the right support at the right time.

Brunswick's HIV support services provide confidential, inclusive care for people living with or affected by HIV.

The team offers practical support, clear advice and one-to-one guidance, including help to access treatment, testing and wider health services.

The focus is on improving wellbeing, reducing stigma and ensuring people feel informed, supported and connected to the right care.

HIV SERVICE SUPPORT

Brunswick's HIV prevention services focus on reducing new transmissions through accessible, inclusive support.

We provide accessible information, free condoms and advice on testing and prevention options such as PrEP, tailored to individual needs.

The aim is to help people make informed choices, stay protected and feel confident in managing their sexual health and wellbeing.

More from Brunswick

Brunswick also delivers wider support, projects and campaigns that help LGBTQ+ people, communities and organisations feel more informed, supported and connected.

This includes training, counselling and work to raise awareness of key health and wellbeing issues.

Across all areas, the aim is to provide practical support that builds confidence, improves wellbeing and strengthens communities.
